

New Holding Humanitas Offices Rozzano (Milan)

FTA | Filippo Taidelli Architetto

This project involved the restructuring of an existing building in disuse within the hospital complex of the Istituto Clinico Humanitas in Rozzano. It was renovated to create the new management headquarters and a landmark symbol for Humanitas.

The building now has a solid parallelepiped form, balanced on the edge of a large roofed area devoid of any entrance to the main building.

The aim of the project takes advantage of this privileged position to generate a kind of light box, a translucent volume that projects great transparency and clarity from the interior and provides strong visible impact when seen from the road when it is lit up at night.

The connection with the convalescent wing opposite is created by a new roof system that is covered with a roof garden and large planters that can be enjoyed by visitors and can be overlooked by convalescing patients from their windows.

Within a wider urban planning project for greater Milan, FTA is studying a project for the construction of a research campus for the Istituto Clinico Humanitas, again in Rozzano. The university structure, integrated within a larger infrastructural project, will provide services and space for a thousand students.

V.M.

Nocturnal view of the Humanitas Holding Office building

View of the office building overlooking the garden

Masterplan of the research campus at the Istituto Clinico Humanitas

Humanitas Holding Office layout